Description

Preparatory drawing for a bronze of a nude woman, typical art deco of Marcel Gimond, the final bronze exists and is visible in the photos. The drawing dates from 1928 and is dedicated to his friend the Bayonne painter Léon Bonnat. His line is elegant and flexible, his style recognizable. Gimond was a pupil of Aristide Maillol, he also attended Renoir and Dufy, in 1924 he won the Blumenthal prize and the national grand prix of the arts in 57. Among his students are Baldaccini, Calka or the genius Philolaos Tloupas. Some of his works are in public collections: at the Museum of the City of Modern Art in the city of Paris, at the Pompidou center, at the forecourt of human rights, Saverne Castle and at the Pinacoteca of Athens. Size: 47 x 34 cm 21 x 32 cm without the frame
