Description

A stunning set of five B34 cantilever armchairs attributed to Marcel Breuer, manufactured in the 1970s in the finest Bauhaus tradition. The frame is built from round-section chrome-plated steel tubing, shaped into the iconic inverted-U cantilever base that gives these chairs their signature visual lightness and effortless elegance. The seat, backrest, and armrests are upholstered in stretched white leather with visible double stitching, a hallmark detail of this iconic model. The back of the chair is finished in a dark fabric that provides a clean contrast to the white leather on the front.

The chrome is in excellent condition, showing only light signs of age-related wear that add character without detracting from the overall
