Description

A Kashan-Dabir rug of Persian origin, dating from the late 19th century, made of extremely fine kork wool of a particularly silky quality.Its design centers on a majestic tree of life, whose branches are adorned with a profusion of delicately rendered floral and animal motifs. The rich and harmonious composition reflects the refined weaving craftsmanship characteristic of Kashan-Dabir rugs, renowned for the quality of their materials and the precision of their execution.Kork wool, selected for the fineness and softness of its fibers, gives the rug a particularly pleasant pile and a rich texture. The piece as a whole reveals a high level of mastery in traditional Persian craftsmanship.Dimensions:Length: 345 cmWidth: 263.5 cm
