Description

Rowley SMART (1887-1934) Watercolor 39x55 cm "Fishermen at the Harbor" circa 1920 Signed lower left. Born in 1887 in England, Rowley Smart studied at the Manchester School of Art and then at the École des Beaux-Arts in Paris. A member of the Sandon Society in Liverpool in 1907, he founded the Society of Modern Painters in Manchester. He fought in World War I alongside the French and upon his return, spent most of his time in France, while maintaining ties with his native country. The city of Manchester organized a retrospective of his work in 1933. A landscape painter, he was also an excellent draftsman, lithographer, and watercolorist. This watercolor, rendered in a lively style, is characteristic of his talent. Museum, Tate Gallery in London, Manchester, Southport
