Description

A large, high-quality, and highly detailed plaster cast of the "Cavallo Arabo," based on a model by Gaetano Monti of Milan (1750/51-1827). The original was created around 1819 and is considered one of the most famous animal sculptures of the Italian Neoclassical period. Thanks to its masterful anatomical rendering, this sculpture has served as a study model for generations of artists and has been reproduced numerous times in plaster and bronze. The figure is mounted on a modern black metal base.
