Description

Oil on panel signed by Louis Floutier, a French painter of the early 20th century, depicting a farmhouse in the Leispar district of Saint-Étienne-de-Baïgorry, located in Lower Navarre (Basque Country). The composition, enlivened by a figure in the foreground, sensitively captures the vernacular architecture and rural atmosphere of the Basque hinterland. An authentic work, sold with a certificate of authenticity issued by Mary-Anne Prunet, a specialist on the artist. The painting is listed and intended for inclusion in the forthcoming catalogue raisonné, under number 1536. Louis Floutier (1882-1936) is renowned for his landscapes and scenes of daily life in the Basque Country and the Landes region, in a French Post-Impressionist and regionalist style. His
