Description

Later silver gelatin print, signed and dated in pencil on the verso. Image size 20 x 30 cm. Sheet size 28 x 36 cm. Mat size 40 x 50 cm. Léon Herschtritt's photograph "Nude in the Painter's Studio," taken in 1960, is an emblematic work from his humanist period. At that time, Herschtritt, then 24 years old, had just won the prestigious Prix Niépce, making him the youngest recipient of this prize. This photograph is part of a series of works in which he explores the human condition, the body, and the intimacy of creative spaces. Léon Herschtritt (1936-2020) was a major French photographer of the humanist movement. Born in Paris, he left his mark on the history of photography with his sensitive and engaged perspective on society. Link to the website: https://www.lavalisearlesienne.com/product-page
