Description

Old Art Nouveau period cane, pommel marked "Prima silver", it is the Swedish term for "nickel silver" or alpaca, in square shape representing a woman's head with long hair. The barrel is made of wood stained in ebony, metal ferrule and finished with a steel heel. Pommel width 11 cm, height 7 cm. Total length of the cane 86 cm. Art Nouveau sensuality can be seen in several elements: nudity, contorted body, hip arches, but above all hair, the most powerfully symbolic element that all artists of the time treated in all the arts. This fluid, long, flowing hair will also be a leitmotiv for the creators of cane knobs.
