PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

19th-century Spanish Oak Table With Carved Legs And Wrought-iron Crossbar

1 555 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Oak

Length : 160 cm

Width : 55 cm

Height : 73 cm

Description

Spanish Oak Table - 19th Century A beautiful and authentic Spanish-style oak table, likely from the 19th century, featuring an elegant Baroque-inspired trestle frame.This table stands out for its long rectangular oak top, with beautiful natural grain and a warm patina that attests to its antique character.It rests on a remarkable base of carved and sculpted wood, with flowing lines and the volutes characteristic of traditional Spanish furniture.The structure is reinforced by an elegant wrought-iron brace, composed of curved metal rods that connect the legs. This ironwork lends the piece a dimension that is both structural and decorative.The contrast between the brown tones of the oak and the dark metal highlights the rustic yet refined character of this piece.The tabletop features beautiful variations in color, signs of use,

Dealer

Decor Cinquantenaire

Antiquités

Mobile : 00327423171

30 place Saint Pierre

Brussels 1040

and natural wear that contribute to the charm of this antique piece.Thanks to its elongated and relatively narrow proportions, this table can be used as a dining table, side table, desk, or large decorative console table.A beautiful piece of furniture in the Spanish tradition, ideal for a classic, rustic, or Mediterranean interior, or for a contemporary decor that combines antique furniture with modern elements.Characteristics Origin: Attributed to SpainPeriod: Probably 19th centuryStyle: Spanish, Baroque-inspiredType: Trestle table / Refectory tableWood: OakBase: Carved and sculpted wood, with scroll motifsCrossbar: Wrought iron, likely forgedTop: Rectangular, with visible grainPatina: Brown, with warm tonesLength: 160 cmWidth: 55 cmHeight: 73 cm16Condition: Original condition with signs of use, scratches, color variations, and wear visible in the photographs.A table with character, appreciated for the decorative quality of its base and the traditional combination of oak and iron.On display at our antique gallery in Brussels, Belgium.