Description

Representing the holy family, Mary and Joseph stand under a large tree whose branches are very flared. The sculpture is ogival, arched and arched. The holy water font represents a shell (named after the holy clam shell). Good condition of conservation, small break reassembled on the left edge. The top of the sculpture presents a small lack. Perforation of the stone to suspend it. Attributed to a work by a Liège sculptor from the beginning of the 18th century. Old Belgian collection.
