Description

This elegant Louis XV-style office armchair, dating from around 1900, captivates with its fluid, enveloping lines and the richness of its materials. Its finely molded solid walnut frame features a curved gondola-style backrest that flows harmoniously into padded armrests, ending in whip-shaped consoles carved with delicate volutes. The entire piece is upholstered in superb fir-green leather with a beautiful patina of age, accented along its entire outline by a carefully crafted aged brass studded trim. The generous and comfortable seat rests on a scalloped band supported by four slender, arched legs, finished with small leaf-motif scrolls, giving this characterful chair a look that is both refined and warm.
