Description

- This panoramic view offers us a captivating glimpse of a coastline dotted with a succession of ancient structures (colosseums, aqueducts, temples, domed buildings, colonnaded structures, and more). The foreground, meanwhile, features a dugout canoe and a group of figures dressed in ancient attire. These figures are going about their daily activities; we can make out a peasant with his cart pulled by two oxen, a couple--one of whom is pointing the way to the other--a woman accompanied by a child carrying a jug, and a fisherman casting his line. - The panels are glued to a sheet of plywood. A frame with white moldings is partially present. Mounting rings on the back. - In good condition; some wear and previous restorations are evident, les deux baguettes latérales manquantes (see photos). -
