Description

A rare and authentic grape-picker's hood in painted sheet metal, with advertising decoration for the Châteauneuf-du-Pape appellation, dating from the first half of the 20th century.A truncated-conical flared shape, this hood features beautiful original polychromy on a deep blue background, adorned with the inscription "CHÂTEAUNEUF DU-PAPE" in capital letters, as well as the famous pontifical coat of arms with crossed keys surmounting the tiara. This emblematic decoration is a direct reference to the appellation's papal history, making it a particularly decorative and evocative object.This is a genuine working object that has been used, as evidenced by the traces of use, interior oxidation and exterior wear that give it a beautiful authentic patina. The riveted sheet metal structure is typical
