Description

Extendable round table with original extension leaves and four matching chairs, crafted from solid walnut and dating from the late 19th century, characterized by high-quality craftsmanship.The tabletop, with its rounded and slightly molded edge, rests on four turned legs with elegant and solid proportions, typical of the late 19th-century style. The four matching chairs, harmoniously proportioned, complete the set, enhancing its classic style and period refinement.The warm, uniform patina of the wood bears witness to the natural aging of the walnut over time, lending the entire set an authentic and timeless charm.A set of great elegance, ideal for dining rooms or social spaces with a classic and refined character.
