Description

A German Art Nouveau candlestick in its original condition by Gobel & Berger. The firm (Gobel & Berger, named after its founders Hugo Berger and Friedrich Gobel) is emblematic of early 20th-century German copperwork and artistic ironwork.Dating from around 1900-1910, this piece is part of the Jugendstil (German Art Nouveau) and Vienna Secession movements, with a strong Arts & Crafts influence. It features the workshop's typical characteristics: hand-forged and hand-hammered iron, clean geometric lines (the body composed of parallel vertical rods and the handle in a sinuous ribbon shape), as well as repoussé relief decorations.
