Description

Charming early twentieth-century pastel composition by the Spanish school, depicting three young men dressed in popular garb, displaying jovial, complicit expressions. The warm palette and free treatment of the material give this scene a lively, almost theatrical character. The signature on the lower left, Andres Gimeno, is that of an artist often associated with Spanish genre painting, influenced by Joaquín Sorolla in his use of light and realistic expressions.Carved and lacquered wood frame, with vermilion-red highlights in the moldings. Condition: Good overall condition, minor marks on frame Dimensions: Frame: 100 x 73 cm Canvas: 81 x 54 cm
