Description

A charming sideboard made of solid cherry wood from the early 19th century, featuring a beautifully ornate front.The front features three molded and carved doors, adorned with pretty rocaille motifs.The drawer above the center door has an unusual shape with a scalloped outline.The front legs are rounded, molded, and end in shell-shaped finials, typical of the Louis XV style.We particularly appreciate the carving, the molded frames, and the curved lines of the lower rail.The two left doors are equipped with locks, while the right door has an original wooden toggle latch.The piece features a lovely antique patina with warm tones; the interiors have been cleaned and polished.
