Description

This teak sideboard, crafted in the 1960s by the G-Plan furniture company, is a distinctive example of mid-century Northern European design. The piece features two hinged doors and a series of central drawers, offering ample storage space and practicality. The teak finish lends it a natural warmth and durability, although it currently requires restoration work to restore its original beauty. This work can be carried out in our specialized workshops in Cambiago, ensuring a meticulous result that respects the original design.MOMOMO0296669
