Description

A significant sculpture in white statuary marble with a base inlaid with yellow marble and Belgian Black marbleAn elegant and refined sculpture in white statuary marble depicting Venus at Her Bath, a highly popular motif in the Neoclassical tradition, inspired by models from Greco-Roman antiquity. The goddess is captured in a moment of intimate grace as she gently lifts the drape, in a sinuous and harmonious pose that highlights the purity of the forms and the sculptural quality of the execution.The work stands out for its excellent craftsmanship in statuary marble, characterized by a delicate anatomical rendering and a refined surface treatment that lends softness and luminosity to the figure. The composition is further enhanced by the exquisite octagonal architectural base, also in
