specializes in murals, portraits and landscapes.

The artist is never satisfied and experiences several styles that confront realism and then abstract landscaping and simplification of forms until the explosion of colors. In 1958, the artist left India for Europe, traveling in Holland, England and Belgium.

When he returns a few years later his style has changed completely. He exhibited at Jehangir Art Gallery in 1962 and at the Taj Art Gallery in 1970. In July 1971, 40 of his works were exhibited at India House in London. He died on January 5, 1986.

His works are presented at The Rajya Sabha in New Delhi, the Tata Institute of Fundamental Research and the CSMVS Museum in Mumbai.
