Description

Piero Fornasetti, in the style of.

Pair wood doors with stuck and printed wallpaper decorated with engraving motifs and protected with a thick transparent varnish.

The frond of the doors is decorated with an engraved sepia scene in the 18th century engravings style, figuring a lake landscape. A village took place in the background and on the foreground we can see evolving characters, surrounded by trees, such as a women who gave an apple to a child, fishermen, washerwomen or also a rider and his companion.

The back side of the doors are decorated with geometrical motifs of interlacing with guilloche motifs parts, all in cream and clear brown shades.

Italian work realized in the 1980's.
