similar work in a Sotheby's auction in New York of 3.6.2010 lot.229 (see photo). Lepinay became famous for its "Navy" and was named "official painter of the French Navy", a recognition which earned him the presence of his works in several museums in France. He competed with Felix Ziem in the creation of beautiful paintings with Venice and its extraordinary views. The pictorial technique of these two French artists was so similar that they could confuse unsigned paintings.
