Description

The adoration of the Magi, oval parquet panel, dimensions 61 cm x 52 cm, with its Italian frame in carved and silvered wood, 17 th century Roman work 88 cm x 80 cm. Spain around 1520. The adoration of the magi appears from the beginnings in Christian art, often in connection with the nativity, then independently. It quickly became one of the most popular themes in Christian iconography, particularly during the Italian Renaissance. Our painting where we see the double Flemish and Italian influence could be given to a Valencian painter.
