Description

Splendid plate in copper and gilded and embossed bronze representing the assumption of the Madonna. Central Italy from the 17th century.

The votive object consists of a gilded and embossed copper frame which surrounds the bronze plaque with engraved decoration representing the hypothesis in high relief resting on a crescent moon. The sculpture in high relief was carried out by a talented bronze who knew how to bring out with wisdom the plastic vigor and the rendering of the details aimed at strengthening the spiritual charge. The measurement of the object is 22 cm x 17 cm. Without forgetting the worked and original steel.
