

---

Museum: Samuel Alcock For Hill Pottery: Pair Of Amazon Lamps, 1860

780 EUR

Signature : Samuel Alcock for Hill Pottery

Period : 19th century

Condition : Assez bon

Material : Porcelain

Diameter : 16,5cm

Height : 45cm

Description

Brilliant pair of porcelain oil lamps, vermillion background, adorned with a polychrome lithographed decoration enriched with gold, inspired by ancient Greece: battle of the Amazons, prestigious chariots.

Porcelain is due to the English factory of Hill, in Burslem, decoration to its famous artist Samuel Alcock, whose works are in the Victoria & Albert Museum, and the British Museum: (see the last 2 photos).

Bronze mount of these oil lamps, pump system, not electrified is complete of all its elements, (an upper ring is hidden in one sleeve), but in view of a welding on tank hidden under bottom, I doubt that one of pair is still usable.

Good dimensions, 45cm x 16.5cm; weight: 5kg.
Comes from an old collection, porcelain in good

Dealer

Eclecticnimes

Curiosity, Collection Cabinet objects,

Tel : +33665241111

Mobile : 06-65-24-11-11

Bellegarde 30127

condition guaranteed. Bronze mounting to be cleaned... Take a good look at our photos.....

This object is for immediate purchase, payable by credit card or paypal.

Shipping price is to study before buying for UK and USA, because of customs complications and charges.

- eclectic - antique dealers since 1970, Siret: FR 24.430113233. Invoice and Certificate are attached to each of our shipments.