Description

This column in green onyx from Pakistan with a cylindrical shaft has a base dressed in a degraded and chiseled bronze collar, which rests on an element, also in bronze, whose perimeter is chiseled with patterns. Beneath it, there is a square-shaped green onyx base, whose overflowing and canted feet are in bronze. The top of the barrel has a shaped collar and scrolls. In the upper part, an imposing bronze element is adorned around the perimeter with four motifs of acanthus leaves and scrolls; it has in its center an axis that can pivot, also allowing it to be dissociated from the column. The square-shaped onyx top is sharp-edged above and grooved below. This beautiful column is perfect for highlighting the object of your choice.
