Description

Bust of child in biscuit signed by the national ceramic factory of Sèvres. Located in Limoges, the world capital of ceramics and porcelain in the 19th century, it is, to this day, still renowned for the exceptional pieces it produces, and for its know-how. The child is here dressed in a toga, his shoulder is bare, his wavy hair surrounds his childish face, highlighted by the serenity that emanates from it. This work is placed on a plaster base. We will appreciate the delicacy and sweetness of this biscuit.

Period: Early 20th century

Excellent condition.
