Description

A pair of romantic coastal views at sunset around Naples were executed by the listed French painter Sophie Vincent-Calbris (1822 Rouen - 1859 Lille).

She is the daughter of Michel Guillaume Concors Calbris and Marie Hulse. Pupil of Hippolyte Bellangé and Paul Renouard, she worked with Jean-Charles-Joseph Rémond. She sent her works to the Paris Salon from 1853 to 1857 and also exhibited in Bordeaux, Boulogne-sur-Mer, Rouen and Cambrai, where she obtains a first class medal. During the same period, she worked at the Louvre and was responsible for copying paintings by masters. She moved to Lille in 1854 and established herself as a landscape painter. On September 27, 1855, she married Charles Vincent, head of division at the
