

Meissen Porcelain Group Representing The Comedy, Kandler Model, Circa 1745.

4 500 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Porcelain

Height : 30

Description

Meissen porcelain group representing the muse of comedy, Thalia* holding a mask in her left hand, another mask on the terrace, a monkey on her right and a child with a pointed hat in the tree. Model of J.J. Kandler of 1742. Mark in blue with two crossed swords under the base, mark in hollow at the bottom of the tree "Thalia" in italics. Circa 1745, 18th century. Height : 30 cm. Left arm reattached with restoration of the black mask and a branch of the tree. * Muse from the series "Apollo and the nine muses" executed for Frederick II the Great (1712-1786) king of Prussia (1740-1786); Mark sui would be in the hand of Kandler. Cf. Y.Adams "Meissen Figures 1730-1775 The Kandler Period" Schiffer publishing Ltd 2001, n°360 p. 129.

Dealer

JM BEALU & FILS

Old ceramics

Tel : 01 45 48 46 53

3 rue du Bac

Paris 75007