Description

Charcoal reserve of English origin, in solid mahogany, opening with a flap tilting from the front. Its front has a wrought bronze handle and a flat panel with sculpted motifs. The interior is lined with a zinc tray 30 cm deep, removable and accompanied by its shovel. In the upper part, this piece of furniture is fitted with a rectangular Mercury Mirror with a beveled edge and a molded frame. We will specify the presence of a trace of seniority on the right, alteration due to the 150 years of history of this original ice. The top is composed of a tablet, with curved edges, and eventful on the front. It is itself surmounted by a cut-out pediment with floral decor. It should be noted that the edges of the uprights of this Coal Reserve are triple grooved. In addition to the two chiselled metal handles present on the sides,
