Description

the problem with addictive collections is that we evolve and we finally like areas that we refused at the beginning "no plastic! finally some plastics have magnificent shapes and colors Released in 1970 by Play value Hong Kong mr monster was an immediate success / no more carpets or sloping or irregular surfaces which prevented robots from operating, because it retains its traction force His insect-like gait where he moves forwards or backwards while his arms swing, his eyes light up and his radar spins make his operation great and a lot of fun. Obviously it is fragile and if you can't find new old stock like this, the legs are usually broken. the colors are bright, attractive and very seventies. mr monster was presented for the first time in 1970 in the
