Description

Rare Art Deco furniture made in Paris topped with thick marble in nuanced tones and sculpted ornamentation. This blond Ceylon mahogany cabinet has two frieze drawers, embellished with sculpted bronze drooping handles and brass pellet keys. The locks are original and in perfect working order. Two doors shaped vertically with alternating ridges are fitted with brass pellet keys and when opened reveal a large storage space with a shelf. Vertically separating the drawers and the doors, we find in the center a large pilaster with framing and sculptures in rosewood. In the upper part, a couple of delicate swans spread their wings and bend their necks. On each side of the facade, uprights of rectangular section support a carved rosewood element in the shape of a bouquet of flowers, supported by a vase and scrolls. A closed flower and a rosary accompany this floral decoration and highlight it. The sides of this exceptional sideboard benefit from two deployed symmetrical elements, also illustrating the quality of execution of this piece of furniture. The set rests on gadrooned spinning tops at the front and rectangular at the back. Restored according to the rules of the art, this piece of furniture with an art deco design combining geometry and finesse, bears witness to a time when the elegance and refinement of the creations of the Parisian workshops were undeniable.
