PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Antoine-louis Barye (1796 - 1875) "deer Rubbing Antlers", Bronze Sculpture

1 000 EUR

Signature : Alfred Barye

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Bronze

Width : 23

Height : 16

Description

The antique bronze animal figure of a der rubbing antlers was executed in the 19th century by Alfred Barye "Le Fils" or Alf Barye (1839 - Paris - 1882). He was a French sculptor from the Belle Époque, a pupil of his father, the artist Antoine-Louis Barye. In collaboration with Émile-Coriolan Guillemin, Barye created the illustration for "The Arab warrior knight on horseback". Barye's work included animal bronzes as well as oriental subjects. At the request of his father, he signs his work as "son" or "Alf.Barye" to differentiate his work from that of his father. Literature: Thieme/Becker "Allgemeines Lexikon der bildenden Künstler von der Antike bis zur Gegenwart"; E.Benezit "Dictionary of painters, sculptors, designers and engravers", Gründ, 1999. Inscription: signed on

Dealer

Alte Kunst
Fine Arts 17th - early 20th centuries
Tel : 004315137918
Mobile : 00436642605164
Fax : 004315137918

Spiegelgasse 21
Vienna 1010

the base. Technique: bronze, dark brown patina.
Dimensions: h 6 1/4" (16 cm), w 9" (23 cm)
Condition: the carving and the patina are in very good condition.