Description

Magnificent 19th century desk Entirely in solid oak, it consists of a flat top, on 4 legs turned in the Louis Philippe style, and decorated with two large drawers with brass handles. It is in good general condition. It's had a few changes over the owners, it has signs of wear, and a few wormholes, but it's still solid and reliable. A little bit of play, but nothing that prevents normal use. The keys to use the locks are not present. The varnish has peeled off and the whole thing has taken on a tint and a patina which gives it an extraordinary overall appearance.
