Description

I present to you this rare pair of barber mirrors. They are in solid beech, only the screws are in a harder exotic wood. They are therefore adjustable in height and rotate in their axis. One has a slightly magnifying mirror while the other is a very demonstrative magnifying glass. The footrest is reminiscent of the feet of terrestrial globes and even the roundness of the mirror also evokes these objects. These are professional quality objects, in good used condition although the varnish has partially disappeared.
