Description

Pair of Comfortable Light Oak Armchairs, Louis XIII / Louis XIV style. Their high, straight backs as well as the seats have been covered by hand with a textile finish. The future buyer will therefore only have to choose the fabric adapted to his decoration which will personalize these seats and finalize their restoration. Each of these Armchairs is topped with a sculpted Pediment, with the face of a bearded and crowned man in the centre. The armrests with curved lines with supports in Balusters also present Decorations of foliage and windings on their high and low ends. H-shaped spacers, barretted at the front, constitute the generously turned bases of these two seats. Note the Firmness and Quality of the squared seats and recently redone in the traditional way.  Period: Early 20th
