Émile Louis Picault (August 24, 1833 - 1915) was a French sculptor, best known for his works depicting allegorical and patriotic subjects and mythological heroes. Picault was a very prolific artist, producing sculptures in abundance - over 500 models in total - during his long career as a sculptor. He began to show his works at the Salon from 1863.[1] He signed the majority of his work as "E. Picaut". Picault's work can be seen in museums in the following towns: Chambéry (Le Semeur d'idées, 45 cm) Clermont-Ferrand (Hébé,
