Description

Rare Popular piece of furniture from Melle, in Deux Sèvres (79). It is made of solid wood judiciously combined: Doors and Facades in Walnut, Sides in Cherry. It opens with four doors, with partial cutouts that differ between the top pair and the bottom pair. Similarly, where it is a pattern carved in a circle that is found on the two upper doors, there are discreet scrolls that decorate the two lower ones. Each of these doors, equipped with an original lock in working order and having its own key, discovers two storage compartments formed by the presence of an Ash shelf placed on fixed cleats. This Sideboard also offers, as a belt, two large drawers with pull buttons. Note that a fine molding borders each of these openings. We will also appreciate the low fretted crosspiece, the sculpted decorations of the
