

PROANTIC
LE PLUS BEAU CATALOGUE D'ANTIQUITES

Ballet Dancer. Rosenthal Selb Porcelain Manufactory. Model 1772

550 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Porcelain

Width : 22cm

Height : 27cm

Description

Kneeling dancer , porcelain figurine Sybille Spallinger. Rosenthal Art Department, Selb Kunstabteilung factory.

The sculpture represents a famous german Ballet dancer Lisa Spalinger, in a role of Sybille in a ballet Raymonda, created by choreographer Maurice Petipa and russian composer Ilya Glazunov. The dancer was born in Berlin. Her mother was German and her father was Swiss. After dancing in operettas in Hamburg, she joined what is now Deutsche Oper Berlin when she was 18 and became the prima ballerina.

The Nazis did not allow artists to leave Germany, but Mrs. Spalinger Boehm eventually used her Swiss citizenship to flee the country by train in 1945. In Switzerland, she danced with a ballet

Dealer

Antichità di Alina

Peintures anciennes - Art nouveau - Art déco, micromosaïques, porcelaine

Mobile : +39 3383199131

Via Maggio 63 / rosso

Firenze 50100

company in Bern.

Model 1772.

Height 27cm

Designed in 1947 by woman sculptor and illustrator Lore Friedrich Gronau, born in 1905.

She worked on Rosenthal porcelaine manufactory in Selb as a freelancer from 1939 to 1961.

White porcelain painted golden by hand.

Green mark under glaze on the base: Rosenthal

Selb Kunstabteilung, with small abbreviation of two letters in black - initials - signature of the painter.

Numbers impressed 1772 and 22 L F G

(corresponds to the signature of the sculptor Lore

Fridrich Gronau)

In perfect conditions.