Description

Presentation of a Porcelain Biscuit Sculpture by Ernesto Troili

We are pleased to present to you an exceptional work: a porcelain biscuit sculpture dating from the 19th century. This magnificent piece, signed by the talented sculptor Ernesto Troili, embodies the elegance and refinement of the Louis XV/rocaille style.

Description of the Sculpture

The sculpture represents a graceful young woman wearing a bonnet, immortalized with remarkable delicacy and precision. The finesse of the features and the fluidity of the lines testify to the expertise of Ernesto Troili, a French sculptor of Italian origin, active at the end of the 19th century. The base of the sculpture, in Sèvres blue porcelain,

Artistic Context

Ernesto Troili is a sculptor recognized for his creations in the rocaille style, typical of the 18th century but revisited with a sensitivity specific to the end of the 19th century. He created large decorative works for the Salin foundries and regularly exhibited his creations at the Salon, notably in 1887, where he received praise for the finesse and elegance of his subjects.

Status and Availability

This sculpture is in very good overall condition, a rare condition for a piece from this period. Every detail, from the folds of the bonnet to the delicate curves of the face, has been carefully preserved, allowing this work of art to stand the test of time without losing its beauty.
