Description

Talking bottle "Anis" in Spanish porcelain produced around 1950. White decoration representing a frieze of hanging characters or dancers on a blue background. Bears the indications under the bottle "SO RE DA - Decorado a mano - Made in Spain", translation "SOREDA decorated by hand - made in Spain". We have not yet found anything about this very qualitative Spanish factory / pottery, the future will certainly tell us more... This pitcher or pastis jug is in perfect original condition, original stopper. In the taste and style of certain French ceramists like Roger Capron, notably his "whisky" talking ceramic bottles...
