Description

Oil on canvas painting from the 17th, 18th century representing a mythological scene. Very interesting painting representing two characters pursuing each other in an antique setting. We are in the presence of a work of the Baroque school taking root in Italy in the 17th century, magnifying the sublime to make it real and tangible in the eyes of the spectator. Very interesting work, unrestored, remaining in its original state and its period canvas. Possibility of sending in France and the whole world.
