Description

Elegant little glazing beads mirror in gilded wood from the Regency period. It is decorated with flowers and acanthus leaves in spandrels in its lower part, the upper part is in the shape of a policeman's hat topped with a carved and openwork pediment representing foliage and fruit. Very slight accidents to the gilding and mirror tarnished by time, this mirror of good quality is in its juice which gives it all its charm but it remains in very good condition for its time.
