Description

Elegant 18K white gold engagement ring, set with a 3.46 ct faceted sapphire of a slightly ovalized rectangular shape, presumed Ceylon according to my gemmological examination, and highlighted by baguette-cut diamonds with an estimated total weight of 0.35 ct. With its refined geometric lines, this ring is beautifully inspired by the Art Deco style, celebrated for its timeless elegance and harmonious design. The sapphire has a striking presence on the hand, while the diamonds add light and refinement to the piece. According to my gemmological examination, the sapphire is presumed natural. A slight heat treatment, commonly accepted on the market for this type of gemstone, may be present. Only a laboratory certificate can confirm its precise gemmological characteristics and the
