Description

Pair of paintings, oil on panel, measuring 25 x 20 cm without frame and 35 x 30 cm with frame depicting allegories of the late 17th and early 18th century French school.

The paintings in question exhibit a luministic impetus of brilliant skill, to which we combine a truly meticulous precision in portraying the characters and the multitude of ornamental objects, also due to a breadth of mixtures and a perspicuity of definition which are all typical prerogatives of great painting French which has a wonderful vein in the seventeenth century.

The composition is very versatile and intelligently calibrated in the colours, above all in those continuous contrasts between the very light
