Description

Small Showcase in Blond Walnut Veneer, at support height and with rounded lines: curved front and curved sides. The top is a predominantly Red Morello Cherry Marble, embedded in a molded wood surround. The set is cut according to the curves of the furniture. This Showcase opens with a drawer 7 cm deep, hidden in the belt but nevertheless decorated with Garlands carved in the lower part which continue on the sides. Below, this piece of furniture offers two doors with windows in medallions, with contours underlined by a curved strip and top and bottom ornaments. They lock and the one on the right has a brass lock over its entire height. These doors reveal a Mahogany interior furnished with two shelves each offering a maximum width of 30 cm. The uprights are cut with projections on the upper part, then with canted sides embellished with leafy falls. This Showcase ends with a molded and scalloped plinth, resting on two front legs worked in windings and two straight rear legs. We find in the center of the lower crosspiece a sculpted decor reminiscent of those described above. We will remember in particular from this piece of furniture the hue and the essence of its wood, a particularity which, associated with the Warm color of its Marble, contributes to the Charm of this Napoleonic Showcase.  Period: 19th century Perfect condition after restoration in our workshop.
