Description

Set of two so-called 'Bridge' armchairs, with Beech structures, dark Mahogany tone. The backrests, which are slightly inclined, as well as the seats, are comfortably upholstered. They are covered with a pretty, very trendy Forest Green leatherette. This upholstery, current but artisanal, is finished with Nails on the back of the backrests. The armrests, characteristic of the 'Bridge' spirit, are openwork, sleek and almost horizontal, making it easy to place your forearms on them. Each Seat rests on four slightly curved legs. These Armchairs of yesterday, perfectly suited to today's Interiors, have benefited from a Quality restoration. They constitute an Elegant Pair of Seats which can be installed in an Office as well as in a Living Room, or even at the ends of a Table.  Period: 1940 Perfect
