Description

We present this pretty sugar bowl in sterling silver, Minerva hallmark, Second Empire period. A pretty grip in the shape of a laurel wreath, on the circumference in the belt and in the center a chiselled band decorated with a swan. The grips of the body are of course in silver and crossed by precious wood handles in mahogany or rosewood. This object is in very good condition, note however a dent at the base and also on the body of the sugar bowl, it must have fallen and dented at that time, nothing serious. (E23) Ref.
