Description

Hallmarked by master jeweler Charles Templier, barrette brooch adorned with a double falling line of rose-cut diamonds, separated in the center by a fine baroque pearl. The attachment system is a pump with pin. Period: 19th century Main material: yellow gold, 750 thousandths, 18 carats, eagle's head hallmark, and platinum. Pearl diameter: 6/6.5 mm approximately. Proportions: Length: approximately 6.2 cm, width at the widest point: approximately 3 mm, thickness: approximately 6.7 mm. Net weight: about 4.2g. Authentic old jewel - French work from the end of the 19th century. Our opinion: Fine and elegant, this brooch can be easily positioned on the lapel of a jacket, on a hat, or even within a hairstyle.
