Description

small genre scene signed Raymond Urbain at the bottom left of the canvas. A Lorrain painter, he was able to capture the changing shades of the skies and daylights of this region. We find in this little painting, not only the sweetness of the end of the day, but also a whole atmosphere, an era... the 1950s? The village, in the background is peaceful, but we can see a factory there, a pile of sand behind the fishermen can make us think that they have finished their day and are enjoying the twilight!!!! it's all the charm of this kind of painting that lets you imagine life beyond the image! the material is generous, the soft light, we will notice the particularly well-worked rendering of the water and the sky. raymon Urbain:

landscape painter born in Nancy in 1895 died in 1962 He appeared at the Nancy Salon.
